20 Tales of The Plains

By Buffalo Bill (Wm. F. Cody)

Adventures as a Civil War Scout.

But it was service for the dorsemen So I accepted the mission.

their information useless, sir," said I, "I of woods into the very arms of a com-can win myself a welcome from Forrest pany of Union skirmishers.

to the Confederate camp. The

was still in the general's tent | I dropped, Indian fashion, over my rate spy who had just been galloping horse's mane; and a pi

may be obtained by sending application and one-cent stamp for each number to "Circulation Department, Evening World,"

A Few Human Bromides.

OW that surgery has advanced to a point where diseased or defective parts of the human body may be removed and replaced with those from an animal, it is presumed that the following will be longer be regarded as love before it was asked, but I have no Dear Betty: mere nature fakes:

May Manton's Daily Fashions.

The man with the eagle eye. The man with the lion heart. The man with the chicken liver. The man with the bull neck The man with the pig head. The man with the dog face

HE apron that

perfectly cov-

and means genuine

protection is the

one that the busy

woman likes.

Whether her occupation take the form of dusting and similar household

tasks or of painting, modelling and the like, she is sure

to like something

that will perfectly protect her clothing

and that can be

slipped on and off

at a moment's notice. This one perfectly fulfils the requirements, is sufficiently loose and

ample for comfort

and includes the

patch pockets that

are such a con-

The quantity of

material required for the medium size

is 8 yards 24, 7 yards 27 or 6 yards

Pattern No. 5904

a 82, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch oust

86 inches wide.

venience.

ers the gown

Betty Vincent Gives On Courtship and Marriage

she wrote stating she no longer desired to see or speak with me. Was she justified in doing this? I would like to years my junior, who is a Southerner. We have been corresponding for er. We have been corresponding for lite a while and she has written to me lite a while his triendship very lite. X. Y. Z.

Ask the young man about the stories which a lite a while his triendship very lite. X. Y. Z.

Ask the young man about the stories while his triendship very lite. X. Y. Z.

Ask the young man about the stories while his triendship very lite a while his triendship very lite. X. Y. Z.

Ask the young man about the stories while his triendship very lite and the lite quite a while and she has written to me plain? several times that she loves me very Write the young lady a note apologizmuch. Do you think she really loves ing for your conduct and ask if you A Perplexed Maid. C. may call. If you expect to retain her Have you reason to doubt the girl's friendship do not treat her so rudely who loves me very dearly. We have you show that is best for her love unless she really loved you she was very foolish to give her love before it was assled, but I have no doubt that her affection is since.

He Wants to Make Up.

Dear Betty:

Ask the Young Man.

No Dear Betty:

Ask the Young Man.

love to her she cuts me short, saying that I am only jollying her. Sometimes she mentions a friend of hers whom Dear Betty:

AM acquainted with a young man to whom her parents object, and wants to what is best for her

By Wyncie King plored. "Hest

He Has a Good Friend in Johnnie Queerim 😅 🎿

Work Apron-Pattern No. 5904.

Call or send by mail to THE EVENING WORLD MAY MAN-TON FASHION BUREAU, No. 21 West Twenty-third street, New York. Send ten cents in coin or stamps for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT—Write your name and address plainly, and aiways specify size wanted.

Why, even with-the end so near-I A faint cry followed. My son-my me how I missed-the way. I loved soul-my"you-and I strove-so hard to-keep "Mother!" cried the children.

shakable loyalty-were your faults other's arms-eye to eye-lip to lip. Daphne. Absolutely security makes Presently a shiver ran over the dying man ungrateful, careless, and neglect- woman's body. Dr. McNabb signalled all the time—and always I was proud that you were the mother of my chilthat you were the mother of my chil-

"I cannot-cannot understand," she Three Lovers.

"No-you would never understand." able. Drawing men-and women to- and fair. gether-first by-force of curiosity- The old surgeon, one moment alone Her argument became too faint to the siender dead feet-his first and last near, and with a moan of pain a sud- caress to the woman who for six years den sinking came upon her.

Daphne's Appeal.

service. They could only hold pain in Stanley Belden, leaning heavily on a

"The children? You will let me-see bling came upon him. He looked at

with averted eyes.

A wailing cry broke from Daphne's Philip Keith-who had loved her careternity! Let me—hear them call me— with mad, dishonorable passion.

on there once more!! Dr. McNabb—the elderly surgeon

passionately cried: "Man! Man! cease

THIY Tawker & What Chance Has a Young Man # By Charles A. Voight 50 Ways for Girls 50 Ways for Girls to Earn a Living

By RHETA CHILDE DORR.

This series will give complete information as to positions open to girls, the requirements, duties, pay, etc. Also how to get the positions. &

No. 3—Library Assistants.

ries, &c. The New of the work.

women of studious, quiet habits and to books. The marked improvement in thase who are anxious to continue English which has taken place in the their education after school days are elementary schools during the past few employment or training. The more edu- rooms, and the charge of these rooms, ration she has the better, of course, but selection of books, &c., is almost enit is essential only that she show a high tirely in the hands of women. This grade of intelligence, a certain famil- branch of the work is especially recomfarity with literature, and ability to mended for specialization, as the depass a simple examination. The train-mand for children's librarians is coning school is located at the Muhlen- stantly increasing. berg branch, No. 209 West Twenty-third | The place to find out all details of pertaining to library management, from them or the morning, but it would be uildings to bookbinding and mending, well to make an appointment by letter. part of the course.

It cannot be said that the salaries learning philanthropic work.

paid assistant librarians are very at- pays well.

A VERY large tractive. The beginner receives about staff of trained women and $50 as efficiency increases. Unless find employment special aptitude is shown, this sum rein the various mains the permanent salary for some

New York Public The ambitious librarian has a chance Library, in instito become librarian-in-charge at salarcollege les ranging from $1,000 to $1,500 a year. and school libra- Or she may specialize in some branch

brary has forty- work which engages the services of two branches in women is the school work. In Manhatthe Bronx alone are now under the supervision of and employs something like 450 assistant library assistants, who wist and superlibrarians, besides the highly trained vise the school library, post bulletins librarians in charge of the different touching general educational topics in reference to the library, and otherwise Library work is attractive to young assist teachers and pupils in the use of

Nearly all large libraries and many No girl under seventeen is eligible for branch libraries now have children's street, Manhattan. The course of study this work is at the training school in asts nine months, during which the Twenty-third street. Miss Foote, who Much practice work is done meanwhile. Mrs. Dorr's next article will tell of Cataloguing, card indexing, &c., are the opportunities for taking up and

The New East Lynne

By Clara Morris Author of "Stage Life," "A Pasteboard Crown" and Others.

STNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS. Woman not agonized for the sound of Dapane, beautiful wife of Dr. Philip Kein, is kinapped from her nusbana's New York home. Arthough innocent, sne is made to king the searched in the search of the search o

CHAPTER XVIII. At Last!

momentary check and offer certain stim- cane, while Anton supported him about When next she spoke she asked ea- to the carriage, for one moment paused mother?'

Philip, don't send me-starving into Stanley Belden-who had loved her Repentance.

"Have you no gratitude?" demanded the Professor. "She has saved your shild's life, at the cost of her own.

ren-oh, bring them to me?" she im- cried: "Quick, man! Dismiss her soul in mercy!" "Rest a little first."

"No—there is no time—to waste now. May! Philip! Embrace your mother! And suddenly he yielded, "Daphue-

long still to know-Philip-Philip, tell man-child. Daphne-May--my heart-iny your love. By what fault-did I lose | Dr. McNabb motioned Olive, who carried little Philip from the room. Daphne

"Your pure faithfulness, your un- and her first born lay clasped in each Lying with her loosened hair curling about her face, the unscarred cheek "Perhaps God means it so. Means uppermost, a faint smile upon her lips, that love—should be a riddle unread-Daphne dead looked young and sweet with her, knelt and pressed his lips to he had loved and served in silence.

On the day of burial another funeral was taking place, but a few feet dis-Both men busied themselves in her tant, that of old Mrs. Hartley Dunham, the shoulders, slowly making his way by the old Keith plot. A sudden tremthe open grave, and groaned: "Yes." said Dr. Keith, but slowly and "There ends an incomparable beautyand there ends a last great passion. You will let-me see them-as their For that moment there stood within "That is impossible," he answered. touch of one another the three men

lessly, and had lost her.

mother once more!"

"I cannot. Think of all the pain, the confusion such a revelation may create!"

The door was opening as Dr. McNabb

passionately cried: "Man! Man! cease